18 Local Organizations to Receive United Way of Williamson County Funding

United Way of Williamson County (UWWC) Board of Directors has announced the 2010-2011 Community Investment Grants awarded to eighteen nonprofit programs serving the residents of Williamson County. Each of the funded programs is aimed at creating an impact in a specific area such as improving school readiness, increasing graduation rates, increasing the number of families receiving health care, providing access to prevention programs or helping families achieve financial stability.

In a six-month process that began in December 2009, UWWC received 41 requests in excess of $1 million. Over the course of the next several months a group of community volunteers spent more than 700 hours reviewing the applications to determine which programs demonstrated the closest alignment to UWWC's impact goals in the areas of education, income/financial stability and health. "We truly wish we were able to fully fund all the requests," said LeAnn Powers, Chief Professional Officer at UWWC. "The nonprofit organizations in our community are doing an incredible job, however we have some very ambitious goals so we have to be extremely strategic in allocating funds."

Michelle Robertson, chair of the UWWC Board of Directors noted, "It is our responsibility to those who invest in UWWC to ensure that the donor's monies are supporting programs that make the most impact in our community. The volunteers that served on our review panel used a thoughtful and careful process to determine the programs that would best meet the goals we have set. This process is one of the main reasons why donors believe in our mission."

During fiscal year 2010-2011 a total of $380,000 will be granted to these organizations, each with a specific impact goal in the area of education, income/financial stability or health. Grants range in size from $10,000 to $30,000.
